Unemployment Topic at Club Meeting

Mrs. C. M. Merrell, Former Boro Resident, Discusses Vital Subject

REPORT ON RED CROSS

Mrs. C. M. Merrell, was the speaker at the Woman's Community Club of Narberth on Tuesday afternoon at Elm Hall. Her topic was "Unemployment before and after The Panic." Mrs. Merrell is the author of a noteworthy book entitled "Some People Won't Work." Her pen name is Clinch Calkins. She wrote her book in Narberth last year, concerning unemployment in prosperous times and not about the unemployment in this last depression period. It is compiled from a vast number of questionnaires, from various parts of the United States. In prosperous times, according to Mrs. Merrell, unemployment still goes on from month to month, year in and year out.

In certain lines of business, there are seasonable employments such as the millinery trade and other occupations, which only keep their workers busy for a certain period. A good many firms, such as Procter and Gamble, have ironed out their own seasonable production and have managed to keep their employees busy for certain periods.

Kenneth L. M. Pray who was re-elected president of the Narberth School Board on Monday night. Mr. Pray, director of the Pennsylvania School for Social and Health Work, Philadelphia, lives at 310 Woodside Avenue, Narberth.

Coal Fund Established by Main Line Weeklies As Aid to Needy Families

As a relief measure for unfortunate families the Main Line Weekly Newspaper Coal Fund was established this week.

Plans for the promotion of this fund were made at the Tuesday meeting of the Main Line Community Weekly Newspaper Council at Whitehall, Haverford.

Lower Merion Township Treasurer Peter C. Hess, of Bala, volunteered his services to act as treasurer for the fund. Superintendent of Police Charles P. Smith has agreed to serve as director of relief.

Contributions to the fund may be made through any community weekly newspaper of the Main Line or direct to Mr. Hess at the Township Building in Ardmore.

In the handling of the fund there will be no overhead expense. Those in charge of collecting and distributing the fund have volunteered their services. Minor expenses of mailing, publicity and promotion will be borne by the publisher-members of the Main Line Community Weekly Newspaper Council. Every cent of the fund will be expended for the purchase of coal at the lowest cost per ton made possible by the co-operation of the coal dealers.

Superintendent Smith, as director of relief, will ascertain the names of those families in Lower Merion or Narberth who are in need of coal. These names will be obtained by patrolmen of the three police squads of the township, who are intimately in touch with the needs of residents in every district.

"This is an extremely urgent and worthy cause," said Mr. Hess in announcing that he would accept the treasurership of the coal fund.

Rotary Celebrates Annual Ladies' Night

Sketch by Lower Merion Dramatic Club and Monologue Are Features.

LADIES RECEIVE PRIZES

Ladies' night was celebrated on Monday evening by the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club with seventy-two present at the Cynwyd Club.

The affair was in charge of the program committee, consisting of J. Bedford Wooley, Raymon Watrous, Dr. R. C. Hoffman, Barclay Jones and its chairman, Ralph S. Dunne, acting as master of ceremonies.

Entertainment features included a humorous monologue by Mrs. Horace McConnell of takeoffs of various members of the club, a character study play by the dramatic club of Lower Merion High School, and the awarding of prizes to the ladies.

In the cast of the sketch, "Lijah," presented by the Dramatic Club, were Robert Pennington, George Endicott, Joseph Hallenbach and Helen Wood. The group was coached by Miss Myrna Sheely and was under the general direction of Miss Margaret Waller.

As master of ceremonies, Mr. Dunne raffled off prizes with one to each lady present. A handbag was presented by Mr. Watrous to Mrs. William Decker, wife of the president, on be-

Football Banquet Tomorrow

The annual football banquet for the Lower Merion team will be held in the Senior High School cafeteria tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. All members of the first and second squads will be the guests. Many prominent members of the community are expected to attend.

Assessment Protests May Be Made Tuesday

Borough's Assessment Is Five Million; Increase of $400,000
Over 1927.

FORESEE TAX REDUCTION

Tuesday, December 9, has been set by the County Commissioners at Norristown as the date on which protests may be made by Narberth residents on real estate assessments. Appeals will be heard in the office of the County Commissioners from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M.

The new assessment, upon which 1931 taxes will be based, was made during the past summer by E. C. Griswold, who was elected real estate assessor in 1927. The real estate assessment of 1930 for the Borough of Narberth amounts to a trifle over $5,000,000, representing an increase of approximately $400,000 over the assessment of 1927.

The triennial assessment of 1930, Mr. Griswold stated, represents a new appraisal and equalization of assessments. "Many inequalities have been straightened out," said Mr. Griswold, "by raising quite a number and reducing some. I have viewed every property in the borough," Mr. Griswold continued, "and every effort has been made to assess properties at a fair valuation."

Inasmuch as the increased assessment will result in an additional $15,000 income to the borough's exchequer, and since Mr. Griswold was persuaded to run for the post of real estate assessor with the idea of equalizing assessments and effecting a reduction thereby in taxes, a slice in the tax rate for 1931 is anticipated at the meeting of Council Monday night when the rate is set.

Grade Teas at School

On Tuesday afternoon, December 9, at 3:15 there will be grade teas at the Narberth School in the following rooms: Miss Williams, Miss McAuliffe's, Miss Eckfeldt's, Miss Kelly's, Miss Enion's, Miss Bishop's and Miss Wirst's. All the parents of pupils in these grades are cordially invited to attend and meet the teachers in a social way.

School Board Re-elects

Kenneth L. M. Pray was re-elected president of the Narberth School Board at a special meeting of the Board on Monday night. Mrs. F. T. Van Auken, vice president of the Board, was also re-elected. The secretary and treasurer are chosen by the Board in July. The regular meeting of the School Board will be held on Friday, December 12, instead of the 19th, because of the Christmas holidays.

Methodist Bazaar to Be Held Tomorrow

Many Attractive Articles to Be on Sale at Very Low Prices.

DINNER IS BIG FEATURE

The annual Christmas bazaar of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will be held tomorrow in the parish hall of the new church at Essex and Price Avenues, Narberth. Heretofore it was necessary to hold the bazaar at Elm Hall. It will be open from 10 A. M. till 10 P. M.

Realizing the need for economy this Christmas, the committee in charge are pricing their hundreds of useful articles at very moderate cost. One of the big features of the bazaar will be the low-priced dinner of several courses, including fresh-killed turkey, cranberry sauce and right on through to ice cream and cake. It will be served from 5:30 until 7:30. A cafeteria lunch at noon will also be served. Reservations can be made by tele-

Orchestra's Future Bright, Says Joseph R. Mickie

"The Main Line Orchestra is one of the best amateur groups that I know of," said Joseph R. Mickie, of Cynwyd, vice president of the Orchestra Association, in commenting on recent concert.

"The orchestra is larger this year than ever before, and I think the playing November 23 was of a better quality than heretofore.

"Another encouraging feature," continued Mr. Mickie, "was the audience. It not only was as large as any that attended previous concerts but it represented a real critical group. There was no wholesale broadcast of tickets to fill up the house, showing that those who came were really interested in the music to be played.

"The program for our first concert was unusual, I believe, since some of the modern French music on the program had never been played in concert before. In introducing this music to a Main Line audience we feel the orchestra made a real contribution to heightened musical appreciation."

The orchestra's future looks bright, according to Mr. Mickie, since it is now in a better position to choose its players. "We are arousing more and more, the interest of good players," Mr. Mickie said, "and this is going to result in better concerts. There is a more active interest on the part of our board, most of whom are subscribers to the Philadelphia Orchestra and hence have set us a high standard. Mrs. Thayer, being musical herself, makes an ideal president.

"One of the things that is going to result in better performances by the orchestra," Mr. Mickie continued, "is the work of Dr. W. F. G. Swann as associate conductor. It is only possible to get our group together for practice once a week and by having the services of Dr. Swann, sections of the orchestra can be rehearsed simultaneously and thus save much time. His work in organizing the Redwood String Quartet from the membership of the orchestra, which will give a public concert later in the season, will afford valuable training to several players.

"We want the Main Line Orchestra to become the musical institution of the Main Line and to that end are planning to play good music better than we have ever done before," Mr. Mickie concluded.

Main Line Towns May Get New Post Offices

Five Main Line communities, Ardmore, Narberth, Haverford, Wayne and Bala-Cynwyd, are named among those to receive proposed Federal appropriations for new post office buildings, according to an announcement from Washington.

Of these it is understood that Ardmore is the only community which can expect a new post office in the immediate future. A request has been filed by Congressman Watson at the instigation of State Assemblyman Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, for an appropriation of $150,000 to purchase land upon which to erect a new government building.

The present Ardmore Post Office was erected in 1927 by the Suburban Company and leased to the government for a five-year period. "We have received no notification of when the program will go into effect," said Ardmore Postmaster Joseph M. Baltz this week.

It is expected that the government appropriation of $115,000,000 will be spent over a period of years and allotted to the cities and towns in Pennsylvania and New Jersey which are in greatest need of new post offices.

Chronic unemployment, Mrs. Merrell said, is due to a large extent, to the introduction of machines, which replace human labor. She pointed out that a certain firm that bought and installed certain machinery, let 100 men go and that at least 50 of the men would probably have to search for work for about three months. The fifty who were left would probably drift into final unemployment, which according to Mrs. Merrell's opinion, is worse than slavery, for the unemployed man or woman, after hunting for a job for weeks, loses his courage and strength. Unemployment affects both their mental and bodily state.

Mrs. Merrell said, that in good times or bad times, there are always a million or more people who are unemployed. There are those, too, who have just emerged from this state and are still carrying the burden of their former unemployment.

Another cause Mrs. Merrell gave was the style and market change, such as the cut glass industry, which was suspended several years ago and those who knew that work were stranded and had to seek other occupations. The great financial depression which we are experiencing has also much to do with the present unemployment.

Unemployment is not only being experienced in the United States, but is world-wide and is causing much of the unrest in other nations. At present the Federal Government has not had an adequate bureau to take care of the unemployment question, but there is hope that the new body just formed will be able to solve this perplexing question.

Mrs. Merrell believes that budgets for public works should be saved for hard times, but hopes that United States will emerge from the present situation and that there will be no more hard times. Mrs. Merrell quoted the remark of a woman, whose attitude was as follows: She was asked if there was much unemployment in her state. "No, indeed," she retorted, "the Republican Party wouldn't allow it."

There was a special meeting of the Board of Directors and all Chairmen at two o'clock before the regular meeting. Mrs. W. Russell Green, President of the Club, presided, and Miss Florence Pray, Chairman of the Program Committee, introduced the speaker. Mrs. J. E. Burrell and Mrs. F. X. Purcell were at the tea table.

Mrs. Hugh Clarke, teacher of the piano, will conduct a class of beginners in piano, transposing and harmony on Thursday afternoons, beginning December 11, at the Woman's Community Club rooms, in Elm Hall. Mothers who are interested may meet Mrs. Clarke on Wednesday, December 10, from 1 until 2:30 in Elm Hall, 2nd Floor.

On Monday, December 9, at ten o'clock, there will be a meeting of the International Relationships Committee at the home of Mrs. Howard Strong, 29 Narbrook Park.

Christmas toys or packages for the children of the South Mountain School should be sent to Mrs. Caryl E. Starr, Chairman, 151 Merion Avenue, by December 16, or should be brought to the meeting of the club on that date.

On December 9 at ten o'clock, there will be a meeting of the Board of Directors.

The evening mixed bridge for the benefit of the club, will be held on the 9th of December at 7:45. Tickets may be had from Mrs. Frank J. Wheeler, and reservations may be made by telephone. Her phone number is Narberth 2889. The hostesses for the party are the Board of Directors and the Chairmen.

The women's committee of the Narberth Red Cross Annual Roll Call wish to thank the residents of the community for their contributions to the organization. Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, acting chairman, stated the amount raised in Narberth was $1002.

Following were the amounts raised by the various workers: J. B. Nesper, captain for the Business Men of Narberth, $33; Mrs. W. C. Newman, Captain of Narbrook Park, $28; Mrs. F. J. Wheeler, Captain of Anthwyn Farms, $133; Mrs. Charles Shaw, Captain of the South Side, $227; Mrs. Warren Wright, Captain of the daily hour at the Post Office, $23.25; and Miss Emma Mueller, Captain of North Side, assisted by Mrs. Elmer Lane, Mrs. H. G. Reeves and Miss Gertrude Hoder, $581.

phoning Mrs. A. J. Bawden, Narberth 3911.

Mrs. W. J. Bailey, of 228 Essex Avenue, has made and donated dozens of all types of useful as well as fancy aprons.

Mrs. Harry Chalfant, 128 Chestnut Avenue, is in charge of a very attractive linen table, including everything from bed and table linen to the very latest in hankies.

Mrs. A. K. LeFevre, 9 Sabine Avenue, has secured promises from all the best cooks in the Methodist Church to make from their choicest recipes chocolate, vanilla, cocoanut and all-flavored cakes, as well as cookies and pies for her home-bake table.

Mrs. A. W. Ward, 417 North Narberth Avenue, is chairman of the children's booth. Among these articles will be found clothing of all kinds for the little and big tots, toys and everything necessary for the comfort and pleasure of the children.

A novelty this year will be a collection of unusual French jewelry. It is chromium plated, will not tarnish, and has the appearance of white gold. The filigree designs are lovely.

Mrs. Howard White, 508 Brookhurst Avenue, has been able to get this jewelry through some special arrangement with a manufacturer who does not put his products on the general market.

A table called the "White Elephant," in charge of Mrs. Musser M. Moore, 325 Grayling Avenue, will contain a miscellaneous array of articles of all kinds and for all purposes. This might be termed a general rummage collection, but the things will be much better than the usual kind found in rummage sales, but reasonably priced.

Still another table will contain an assortment of flowers and potted plants—just what you may be wanting for the house, for a party, or for over the holidays.

Juniors to Meet at Home of Mrs. Clark

Thursday, December 11, is the date of the next meeting of the Junior Section, Women's Community Club. The scene will change from the club room at Elm Hall to the home of the program chairman, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, at 106 Chestnut Avenue. Accordingly a more enthusiastic attendance than ever is anticipated, and the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Harold Griest and Mrs. Clark, are prepared to welcome an especially large number of members and friends.

The principal speaker for the evening will be Clarence E. Tobias, instructor at Friends' Central School, whose subject will be "Apocalyptic Literature." Miss Margaret Reid, Junior Chairman of the Southeastern Junior District, will be a guest speaker. There will be music by Mrs. Greist, who will render the piano selections.

Present Play

"The Clay's the Thing," a fast-moving three-act comedy, was presented by the Luther League of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the church building.

Narberth Mulieres Plan Gay Xmas Festivities

The regular meeting of the Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company was held in Elm Hall at 2 o'clock on Monday, December first. Ten new members were reported, in addition to the fourteen in November. A big increase in membership is expected in January when the year really begins.

Plans for the community celebration on Christmas Day are well under way. There will be a movie, free for children, at the local theatre on Christmas afternoon.

Elm Hall will be the scene of an open house on Christmas evening, from 8 until 10 o'clock, for everyone over 16. There will be community singing of carols, a welcome by the Burgess, singing by the American Legion quartette, tap and ballet dancing, and light refreshments. All in the atmosphere of merry Christmas decorations and a real big tree. Come and bring your friends.

Membership Still Open in Narberth School Orchestra

The Narberth Public School's orchestra will make its first appearance in a few weeks, according to plans now being made by Principal W. James Drennan, Music Supervisor Miss Frances Fricke, and Guy Shortz and Ralph Binz, instructors of instrumental music at the school.

Considering the short time the orchestra has had for rehearsals, it is reported to be making fine progress. Membership in it is still open to boys and girls attending the school. Those without instruments are advised to consult Miss Fricke before purchasing them, in order that ones may be selected that are adapted to their ability, and that are moderate in price.

Card Party Next Friday

The Ways and Means Committee of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. R. will hold a benefit card party at the home of Mrs. Joseph R. Aiken, 110 Iona Avenue, next Friday afternoon. This is one of a series of card parties which the chapter is giving, and the chairman is Mrs. John C. Nash. The handicraft of the Crossan school which was on sale at Mrs. Town's home on Narberth Avenue, and sponsored by this chapter, has been rapidly selling. Just at present there are no more bags, rugs or towels, and Mrs. Town expects shortly to dispose of the remainder of the coverlets and other articles remaining.

Sub-Juniors Initiate

The Sub-Junior Department of the Woman's Community Club held their initiation meeting in the rear of Elm Hall on Monday evening. There was a large group initiated and all enjoyed the proceedings thoroughly. Miss Dorothea Metius was the hostess. Mrs. L. Parker Miller was in charge owing to the absence of Mrs. W. H. Miller.

Main Lines

It is a very odd thing what propinquity can do. A member of one of the Main Line branches of the N. S. D. A. R., returned home from a meeting one afternoon recently with a bag which she had purchased. This bag was but one of the many pieces of handiwork which the D. A. R. chapters had on display, all these articles coming from the Crossnore School, a mountain institution in a far-off corner of North Carolina. And this same lady had been reading an article on Russia, which article eventually lay on the library close beside the bag.

That evening the bag was displayed to the head of the house, with a full explanation that the object in the sale of these goods was to raise funds necessary for the education of the descendants of our earliest patriots.

Well, the bag and the article on Russia, lying closest together, roused a train of thought in the mind of the head of the house and several days later his wife was astonished to hear him holding forth as an economist.

"Slave labor," he was telling his dinner partner, "look what it did to the poor white people of the South. They haven't gotten over the effects of it yet. They will need help. That's just where Russia will do to everyone, if the present government keeps on with its present policy. In days before the Civil War, the whites of the South couldn't and wouldn't compete with the slaves. Hence they did nothing but barely exist on a poor farm. And today—well, they have nothing. And if something isn't done about Russia, they'll put us in a pretty bad state."

It was some time before the astonished wife could quite understand where her husband had developed such decided views, for she knew he neither been to Russia or in the mountains of North Carolina, for that matter. Finally she remembered the bag and the article on the Russian question and the theory that psychologists have about "association of ideas."

And she looked at her husband in that particularly discerning and intent way that wives do when they discover something entirely new about the man they think they know all about.

It is a surprising fact that many women who visit beauty shops discuss aloud their personal affairs in such minute detail. Two were overheard the other day. Just slight bits of conversation, but very amusing to the unwilling listeners. Poor listeners, they can't help themselves, no more than any mortal can help himself or herself when in the dentist's chair. "My bill was $60," shrieked one lady under a drier to a friend under another drier. "Yes, and I had to take one bottle back."

Later from the conversation we gathered that the bottle contained olives. We wondered whether the total bill was for olives, but unfortunately a conversation close by cut-in with a radio station sureness, "Goodness, I was told that Mrs. . . . is now wearing a transformation."

This was too much, we got under our own drier in self-defense, to drown out or dry out these terrible secrets.

One of the drivers of the Ardmore buses certainly believes in starting the day right. Or at least he believes in starting his cash customers off each morning with a cheery good-by. As each foot thumps on the step, getting off, his pleasant though curt farewell floats out the door after each departing one.

No matter what the weather, or the state of the stock market, or the election, or the football news, nothing upsets his calm and even disposition. There is always a good-bye waiting.

The ideas of people differ as to what it takes to live on. The papers tell of a wife asking $10,000 a month from her husband for support, claiming that it takes $4000 a month to support the children. Can you imagine having $4000 a month to live on?

A Common-Sense Decision

At a time when schools and colleges are going into big business and making money raisers out of their football teams it is refreshing to find Lower Merion take the stand that greater receipts should not be the determining factor in where a game should be played.

Discussion has arisen over the advisability of selecting the Villanova Stadium as the scene of the Lower Merion-Radnor game again next fall. The chief argument advanced for such a course is the greater seating capacity at this field.

In his report presented to the Lower Merion School Board, Superintendent S. E. Downs stated that, "attendance at all of the Lower Merion games is excellent and I believe that the majority of those who come throughout the season prefer to watch our games on the home field. The question of greater receipts should not be a determining factor as these school games require only sufficient receipts to meet the necessary expenses incident to equipment, medical services, printing and officials."

For its decision that all home games be played on the Lower Merion field, and its refusal thereby to allow a fine school sport be transformed into a money making proposition, the Lower Merion School Board is to be congratulated.

Has the Hospital Forgotten?

The need for a contagious diseases hospital on the Main Line has been recognized for years. This week the Lower Merion Board of Health has again brought the question into the public eye.

There is no adequate provision made at the present time by the Bryn Mawr Hospital for the care of contagious diseases. As Mr. Vauclain, Chairman of the Hospital's Board of Trustees stated, new cases are seldom admitted. Only those cases which develop into contagious diseases in the hospital are taken care of as a rule.

The whole matter of an adequate isolation unit for contagious diseases seems to be one the hospital is anxious to soft pedal. A committee, consisting of members of the Board of Trustees of the Hospital, was appointed last June to confer with the Boards of Health of Lower Merion, Haverford, Radnor Townships and the Borough of Narberth with the object of looking into the matter, but to date this committee has not functioned.

There also seems to be some confusion as to whether or not an isolation unit was promised at the time the drive for $1,000,000 for the new Hospital Building was being conducted. Mr. Vauclain is quoted in a Philadelphia paper to the effect that "no member of the board of trustees ever promised anyone that a contagious unit was to be built at the hospital."

Upon consulting the files of THE MAIN LINER we find in the issue of May 14, 1926, the following publicity release from the Bryn Mawr Hospital published in connection with its campaign for funds of that year:

"The trustees of the Bryn Mawr Hospital have announced their intention to establish an Isolation Department for patients with communicable diseases if sufficient funds are obtained in the $1,000,000 campaign to be conducted early in June.

"The need of such a department at the Bryn Mawr Hospital, which serves the whole Main Line and its adjacent territory," said Samuel Rea, chairman of the Executive Committee of the campaign, "is evidenced by the fact that in one week last March, 34 new cases of communicable diseases were reported by the health officer of one township alone, making a total of 75 then under quarantine. Schools were closed at Paoli due to the epidemic of scarlet fever."

"Mr. Rea added that such an Isolation Department as is contemplated by the Board of Trustees of the Hospital would minimize to a great extent the danger of contagion to such epidemics."

The statement made therein by the late Samuel Rea makes quite clear that it was the Hospital's intention to provide a separate unit for the care of contagious diseases "if sufficient funds are obtained in the $1,000,000 campaign." Shortly after the conclusion of the campaign, it was announced that $1,297,142 had been subscribed.

There has plainly been a slip-up somewhere. Perhaps the money did not go as far in the building program as was anticipated. But why the attempts to make out that such a project was never contemplated and that the present methods of handling contagious disease cases are adequate for the Main Line territory?

Just Comments

Another holiday come and gone. Thanksgiving past, Christmas looms up as a reality. Toy makers and gift shops and department store buyers begin to feel the Christmas urge around about the Fourth of July, if not earlier. But the average man in the street once he has eaten his Thanksgiving turkey realizes that in a little time he again may gorge himself with delicacies.

For who doesn't love the "eats" part of the holidays?

Succulent is the word we wish to use to describe the state of the turkey, but stay; other adjectives are necessary.

That brings us to point where we wish to complain of or remonstrate against the paucity of adjectival power. Ask Mr. Fourteen-year-old how the turkey was and ten chances to one he will reply "smooth or neat." They seem to be the overworked words in his vocabulary at the present time. Forward passes, movies, food, Ford cars; everything in fact is "Smooth." Can it be that a mechanical term in this mechanical age has slipped into our descriptive language to be applied to anything and everything that pleases!

Once upon a time one could say O. K. as a term of approval. In 1930 the proper retort is "It clicks."

* * *

But return to the subject of the turkey, ten chances to one if the twenty-five-year-old daughter of the house comments, the word lovely will be involved. Lovely is a very much overworked feminine adjective. It slips out with very little effort and in parrot-like fashion.

* * *

Father now can hardly be bothered with applying as descriptive word so contented and sleepy is he behind the smoke from his Corona Corona. Lucky man!

* * *

So feeling not at peace with the world and forced to do something of an energetic nature, it is urged the feminine adjective lovely must be augmented by other less hackneyed, but just as pleasing adjectives. Turning to our Roget, we find first beautiful. Well, that can be just as much abused as lovely and must be used discriminately.

Handsome is next on the list. That may pass on occasion. Pretty, elegant, dainty, fair, personable, comely, seemly, bonny. Now that's a good Scotch word that ought to be used more.

(By the way, when writing of overworking descriptive words, it's surprising that the small and defenseless "wee" has not been totally worn out by the "braw" Scots.)

* * *

Sightly, goodly, dapper, jaunty, natty, quaint, trim, tidy, neat, spruce, smart, tricky, blooming, ruddy, blooming, brilliant, shining, beaming, sparkling, splendid, resplendent, dazzling, glowing, glossy, sleek, showy, specious, rich, gorgeous, superb, magnificent, grand, fine, sublime, enchanting, attractive and ornamental.

Now there is goodly list. To be handled with discretion to be sure. For each has a slight variation. Poor "lovely" has lost much of its selective power. Everybody can be lovely and everything. "How lovely of you" we hear constantly.

Sometimes lovely can mean lovable and synonyms in this instance may be adorable, sweet, attractive, seductive, winning, charming, engaging, interesting, enchanting, captivating, fascinating, bewitching, amiable.

Three adjectives in England at the present stage of existence the most used, insofar as may be judged from an average conversation, are perfect, poisonous and putrid. The Trinity of P's.

* * *

On the Bryn Mawr campus, so we are told, "perfectly poisonous" is the current expression.

That's in the fall of 1930.

Distinctive Volume of Woodcuts Appears

The 'New Philadelphia' Is Subject of A. B. Weaver's Work.

Every so often in this world tending toward robots and mechanism and standardization of all sorts, a superlative and original creative effort stands out. Such an creative success is an extremely attractive little book of woodcuts, "The New Philadelphia," by A. B. Weaver, Jr.

The subject matter is the new architecture viewed in Philadelphia from unusual angles. There are twenty-five woodcuts of distinctive Philadelphia buildings. The crisp definite cuts and stars.

skillful handling of light and shade are no clearer than the terse captions accompany each cut.

The Art Museum, from across the river, looms with majestic beauty. And under it, brief, descriptive and amusing: "Dignified in line—restrained in decoration—admirable in every respect save cost. What Price beauty?"

A illusive perspective that one is so apt to miss in the squirming mass of football and sport crowds is brought out in the cut of the Arcade of the Stadium at Franklin Field. The light and shadow enacts in this one are superb and one can imagine that the distant arch is the exit for the final fading out of all the much applauded.

A quaint house on Elbow Lane, Chestnut Hill, is made more intriguing by the accompanying comment; "Elbow Lane in Chestnut Hill is just a bit theatrical—though nice. One expects the second maid to suddenly appear at a window and take a bowl!"

And so on for the other twenty-two.

Mr. Weaver who lives in Chestnut Hill has signed a number of the books of which only a hundred numbered copies have been privately printed by the artist, of which 80 are for public sale at $10 a copy. The paper is full rag Navarre, printed in black with crimson capitals, a quarto attractively bound in dull black boards with crimson backstrip.

This book, together with books from the Rudge Press and the Derrydale Press, is for sale at the shop of Richard Stockton, 833 Lancaster Avenue, Bryn Mawr.

New Books

Juvenile Volumes

REVIEWED BY L. L. CHAPPELL
"Ring-A-Round; a Collection of verse for Boys and Girls," by Mildred P. Harrington. (The Macmillan Company, $3.00).
 At the age of about two years, each human being begins to establish relations with the book-world. Because he then delights in color and music, his first literary consists of bright pictures and nursery rhymes. It is for the run-about child of two to six years that the Leshe Brookes, the Elsa Beskows, the E. Boyd Smiths make picture-books, and the A. A. Milnes, the Rose Fylemans, and the Laura Benets make poetry.

Of the new picture-books, we hope to speak in later notes. This week a book of poems for the pre-school child claims our attention.

Into "Ring-A-Round," Mildred P. Harrington has gathered many happy songs and verses written by poets who love children. Here are poems to satisfy and encourage the child's love of rhythm, poems to deepen his understanding of familiar things, and poems to broaden his interests. The pictures by Corydon Bell are instinct with delicate fancy and gay humor. Altogether, it is just the volume which any aunt would like to give her smallest nieces and nephews, provided they permit her to stay and enjoy it with them.

"American Folk and Fairy Tales," selected by Rachel Field. (Charles Scribner's Sons, $2.50).

Glancing through the table of contents of this pleasant volume with its droll illustrations by Margaret Freeman, we were impressed by the variety of American folk-lore. Here meet types as different as the Indian nature myths and Hawthorne's "The Great Stone Face," as Brer Rabbit and Paul Bunyan, as Louisiana plantation tales and Rip Van Winkle. Considered in juxtaposition, they suggest the vastness of this country which can foster elements so diverse. In the mind of the ten-year old, however, they will induce no such serious thoughts, but rather a deal of interest in the "Origin of the Medicine Pipe," and in "The Mule-Humans." Tony Beaver, introduced by Margaret Prescott Montague, is a memorable figure. He is, it seems, the strong lumberman of the South, a West Virginia counterpart of Paul Bunyan. "The Big Music," a Tony Beaver story, has a fresh, earthly flavor and a happy-go-lucky air. And Jean Malin, of Louisiana, is a good little fellow. He didn't know his age, but "he had heard his mother say that he was born when the peach-trees were in bloom the year the snow fell."

The book is most interesting as an epitome of one phase of American life. It ought to be of value to the student of American literature, and it will surely please many youthful Americans.

"The Shadow of the Sword," by Hawthorne Daniel. (The Macmillan Company, $2.50).
 In "The Shadow of the Sword," Hawthorne Daniel has written for young people, aged twelve to sixteen, a romance of fifteenth century Brittany. It is a story of the Hundred Years War as it concerned Mont St. Michel in the year 1433, when the Bretons of that island were threatened by the English who had seized and fortified a neighboring island in the bay. The struggle between the two islets was a miniature enactment of the greater war drama then involving France against England.

Several battles on Mont St. Michel are vividly described by Mr. Daniel, who has a scholar's understanding of medieval life. That the French archers could successfully defend the fortified wall of Mont St. Michel against the English and their dread new machine, called cannon, seemed due, at last, to the intervention of St. Michael. The armoured statue, from its high place on the very apex of the Abbey's slender spire, gave the shadowy sign that

BY GEORGE MORGAN

For the Main Line Community Weeklies.

The Main Line, while not the first Philadelphia suburb, was the first large suburban development of the Philadelphia region. Even in Washington's time, Germantown was regarded as a healthy and pleasant place to go when one wished to turn his back on bricks; the King's Road down along the Delaware, in the direction of Chester, attracted many; and others went to up-river places where the steamboats stopped. Later, the Reading and North Penn and Pennsylvania Railroads attracted quite a goodly number. Oddly enough, the Media Road first caught Thomas A. Scott's fancy and he and Anthony J. Drexel endeavored to establish the first of our modern suburbs in that quarter. Mr. Drexel did indeed promote the suburban plan for Wayne and St. Davids; but it was an altogether different A. J. — Alexander J. Cassatt—who turned the balance in favor of the Main Line.

Not that Colonel Scott disregarded the Main Line; but it so happened that Colonel Cassatt's parents lived at Bryn Mawr in a socially important hotel, sheltering George L. Harrison, Richard Brinton, Henry Whelen, Percival Roberts, the Phillips and little Isaiah V. Williamson, the dried-up bachelor who endowed the Williamson Trade School with a couple of millions out of a fortune of twenty. From City Line west lived many other folk of high consequence. Then there were no automobiles and Colonel Cassatt knew their wishes and what he was about when he moved to establish Philadelphia's greatest suburb on the Haverford-Ardmore-Paoli parallel.

Just think of it! the Fortieth Parallel awaited the arrival from the city of Thomas, Richard and Henry—if not, indeed, Tom, Dick and Harry. The "Paoli Local," or as some wit christened it, the "Laoli Pocal," is well remembered.

For half a century the Main Line has enjoyed its prestige among American suburbs—a something in and of itself, with a charm of its own, and a glory of its own. Now we are in a new era of progressive ideas and imminent changes. Let, which belts the whole world in this most populous, prosperous part—the great corn-growing zone; and it is something more than a coincidence that our section of it is a girdle of steel rails.

Colonel Cassatt and others of the Lancaster Avenue Improvement Association reconstructed the road from West Philadelphia to Paoli. The first road, following an Indian trail, dates from about 1687. Lancaster Turnpike was authorized in 1792, and opened three years later—the first turnpike in America. Colonel Cassatt's company began its improvements in 1880; and made a good highway through the Main Line suburbs.

Old Lancaster Road followed the line of what is now Montgomery Avenue. According to a turnpike table of distances, Merion Meeting House on this road was exactly seven miles, two quarters and sixty-five perches from Philadelphia. Then came the Three Tuns tavern, then the Green Tree and then the Red Lion in Athensville (Ardmore), home of Dr. Joseph Anderson and his sister Corona, who owned much of the land.

Along the railroad, with its growing host of commuters and along the highway with its spanking teams grew up the earlier Main Line. It pointed the French to victory.

The young Breton, Edmond, received St. Michael's message on that day of battle. And Edmond, who bore himself so bravely throughout all the struggle to hold Mont St. Michel, eventually became a knight, and, so, a worthy suitor of the lovely Lady Claire du Val. Edmond's story and Mont St. Michel's story divide equally the interest of the book. In the one there is movement, adventure, excitement; in the other, the still, sweet enchantment of a beautiful place graced with perfect architecture.

Narberth Theatre Notes

Praised as one of her best roles, Ann Harding is Linda in "Holiday," the Philip Barry stage play whose talking picturization is playing at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday. It is the story of two sisters of unlimited wealth who fall in love with the same man—a young man who scorns money and hopes to enjoy life while he is young. The cast includes Miss Harding, Mary Astor, Hedda Hopper, Robert Ames, Creighton Hale and Edward Everett Horton.

"Sins of the Children," Narberth's feature next Monday and Tuesday, is a touching and amusing story of the life of a German immigrant family, portrayed by Louis Mann, Robert Montgomery, Elliott Nugent and Leila Hyams.

John Boles in a great singing role is aided by Laura LaPlante and a large mob and army in the pretentious "Captain of the Guard," a story of the French Revolution and the Marseillaise. Much of the music by Charles Wakefield Cadman. It's at Narberth next Wednesday and Thursday.

"Up the River," a funny comedy, is coming to Narberth next week-end and also at matinees beginning December 13, a Rin Tin Tin serial. Slated for early showings in the borough are "Old English," "Whoopee," "Animal Crackers" and "Anybody's Woman."

Egyptian Theatre News

Buster Keaton's latest comedy, "Dough Boys," is at the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd, this week-end. A burlesque of war epics, it has thrilling scenes, and highly amusing ones, in which Cliff Edwards and his ukelele are among the features.

Alice Duer Miller's classic, "Manslaughter," comes to Cynwyd next Monday and Tuesday. Claudette Colbert, of "Young Man of Manhattan," "The Lady Lies" and "The Big Pond," has her most dramatic role in this powerful and vivid story. Critics rate it as one of the best.

"Conspiracy," the Egyptian's feature for next Wednesday and Thursday, is described as a story of the capture of a gang of dope sellers, but is not a typical underworld yarn. It is adapted from a stage success and its stars include Bessie Love and Hugh Trevor.

"Animal Crackers," funnier than "The Cocoanuts," is coming to Cynwyd next Friday and Saturday, with the Marx Brothers attaining a new high of entertainment. It has a plot, and also many "gags" and short comedy sequences, in which there will be seen to best advantage the silent Harpo, with his $12,000 harp; Groucho the talkative, who scores 75 per cent. of the dialogue laughs, and Zeppo and Chico. Also in the show, which is rated to have 363 sure-fire laughs, are Margaret Irving, red-haired society girl whose contralto voice has starred on the stage and radio; Lillian Roth, another stage headliner; the "prettiest girl" from each of fifteen Broadway musical comedies, and several others, including the "Music Masters."

Those Marx Names

The curious nicknames of the Marx Brothers, who will appear on the Egyptian Theatre's talking screen in their second Paramount talking comedy, "Animal Crackers," next week-end, are explained thus:

Groucho Marx, who started life as Julius, got his name from the disposition he displayed when approached for a loan—or so his brothers explain it.

Harpo really is Arthur, but his performance on the harp won him his stage cognomen.

Chico once was Leonard—but he became fond of poultry.

Zeppo, or Herbert, received his name from his brothers who insist that in boyhood he resembled a circus freak of that name.

The Marx Brothers first got together before the public as singers. Their debut was made at Coney Island in an act written and staged by their mother back in 1905.

Isn't it time now for miniature hunting, with house mice for game?

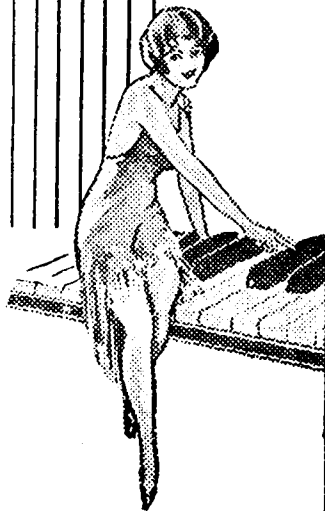

Shrieks of Fun!

Mark your calendar
now!—Friday and Saturday,
December 12 and 13.

Screendom's maddest, mirthfullest quartet of comedians will leap into the Egyptian Theatre next week-end, with a brand-new repertoire of gags, grins and goings-on! Ten times funnier than "The Cocoanuts."

Soprano Charms Choral; Baritone to Sing Next

Katherine Wigart Slingluff, Bala, entertained the Bala-Cynwyd Community Choral at its rehearsal in the Women's Club, Cynwyd, Monday evening, with several pleasing soprano solos:
"Caro Mio Ben," by Giordani; "Eastern Romance," by Rimsky-Korsakov;
"Tears of God," by Larson; "Homing,"
by Del Riego; "Trees," by Rosbach, and "Her Dream"—the last two as encores in response to enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Slingluff was accompanied by the Choral's brilliant accompanist, Katharine L. Clothier.

As part of Conductor Henry Hotz's custom of having the singers entertained by soloists during an intermission of their practice for the forthcoming concert, it is announced William Tuttle, of Cynwyd, will sing at next Monday night's rehearsal. Mr. Tuttle is bass soloist at the Baptist Church of the Evangel, Narberth.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of Monday's rehearsal, with Mrs. John D. Rockwell, Mrs. George Blewett and Mrs. R. C. Heisler as hostesses.

Membership in the Choral, it is announced, is still open to a few tenors and basses, who are residents of the Main Line.

Good Season of Haverford Soccer Team Recalls Outstanding Aggregation of 1915

One of the best seasons which a Haverford College soccer team has ever enjoyed came in the fall of 1915. In that year the Scarlet and Black was a member of the now dormant Intercollegiate Soccer League. The team which represented the Main Line College was exceptionally good and took first place in the league standings after a close and exciting race.

In the same manner as this year's St. Louis Cardinals, the Haverford booters rose from fifth to first place by a sensational winning streak in the last month of the season. In the very last game of the schedule this wonder team held a desperately-fighting soccer aggregation from the University of Pennsylvania to a 1-1 tie and earned Haverford its fourth league pennant by the scant margin of a point in the final standings. The record of the team was four victories and two tie games for a total of ten points, while Penn checked in with four wins, a loss and a tie to finish one point in the rear. Princeton, Columbia, Yale and Harvard took setbacks at the hands of the Main Line eleven, while Cornell and Penn managed to gain ties.

Although not as strong an aggregation as the one in 1915, the present Scarlet and Black soccer team has done well. Their record shows five wins, two losses and two ties. The season started off with a 1-1 tie with the strong Chalfonte-Haddon Hall soccer team. Following this came wins over Lafayette and Lehigh and a well-played tie with Penn State. At this point in the schedule Haverford went into the doldrums of a losing streak. Crescent A. C. handed the soccermen a 6-1 plastering in a loose contest at Brooklyn. And on the next Saturday, Penn, played to a standstill in 1915, rose up and overwhelmed their Main Line neighbors by the score of 8-1. This was the worst and last defeat for Haverford of the 1930 season, but it proved conclusively that had there been a close Intercollegiate League race this year the Scarlet and Black would not have fared so well.

These defeats had one good effect, for the Scarlet and Black snapped out of their slump in time to shut out Princeton and Navy on the next two successive Saturdays. In the last game of the season the 1930 soccermen kept up their good work and took over their ancient rival, Swarthmore, to the tune of 2-1. While not as wholly successful from a won and lost standpoint as the season of 1915, the soccer season of 1930 will stand out as a very successful one.

Child's Foster Home Discussed by Expert

Miss Beatrice MacNally Speaker
at Meeting of L. M.
Narberth Council.

Miss Beatrice MacNally, of the Children's Bureau of Philadelphia, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women on Monday at the Lodge Tea Room in Haverford.

Miss MacNally has charge of finding homes for children who are unmanageable in their own homes, or for children who, for some other reason or other, have not had the proper parental supervision. Her topic was "The Proper Understanding and Treatment of the Difficult Child."

The Bureau, Miss MacNally stated, works in co-operation with the Courts and the Children's agencies. It also considers special applications of parents, and finds a home of mutual understanding and love for the child. Miss MacNally said that it was her experience that an unruly child had often been made so by its environment.

All the foster homes the children are placed in are carefully selected. Often a special child needs a special home. The pay to the foster parents is small and foster parents are selected who will teach the child love in the home, and parents who are willing to try to make a bad little boy or girl good, and do not consider the financial returns. Sometimes as many as a dozen homes are visited before finding the right home for a special type of child. The children see their own parents during their stay with their foster parents and finally return to their own homes.

Of course, all the children are not unruly; some are unwanted, orphaned or for some other reasons need a home. Mrs. MacNally said there were five things to be considered in selecting a home: Plenty of room, mutual respect and understanding between parents, also understanding between the children of the family, a big brother or big sister, plenty of outdoors and finally a good school.

Miss Kate Brusstar, of Bryn Mawr, chairman of the Welfare Committee, was in charge of the program, and introduced the speaker with a few appropriate words.

Mrs. Le Roy Douglass, of Narberth, gave an interesting report of the eighth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women held in Harrisburg last month.

According to Mrs. Douglass the outstanding feature of the convention was the speech of Governor Fisher on Wednesday afternoon, November 13. Governor Fisher commended the work of the Council and said that undoubtedly women, after they had been given suffrage, had put politics on a higher plane than they had ever been before. That women always did much good in the things they were especially interested in such as the public schools, health and welfare work. He also mentioned the various accomplishments of his administration and, as Mrs. Douglass said, it was a glorious swan song of which any man could have been proud.

Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., president of the Council, presided.

Victor Records Chants

Victor records have recently been received at the Narberth Electric Shop of Gregorian chants sung by the choir of monks of the Abbey of Saint-Pierre de Solesmes. Profoundly beautiful and devotional, the chants sung by the Benedictines range from the purely syllabic to the most ornate. They are recorded on twelve double-faced Victor records, and are issued in two volumes, with a descriptive and illustrated booklet by Dom Gajard, choirmaster at Solesmes.

Chevrolet Interests Many

Considerable interest has been shown in the new Chevrolet cars on exhibit in showrooms throughout the country, including those of the Kirsch Chevrolet Company, Bala Avenue, Cynwyd, the dealer for Narberth and Bala-Cynwyd. The price reductions, coupled with the increased size and improvements, attracted to dealer showrooms crowds estimated as second only to the attendance during the early showing of the new six at the time of the change-over from the four-cylinder car in 1928. A tentative production schedule of more than 60,000 cars was set for November, and Chevrolet's sales division reports the output of cars fell behind orders already booked.

Signs of Christmas

Electric trains in the Wunder radio and electric shop opposite Elm Hall, and in the Narberth Hardware Store and elsewhere—Christmas greeting cards in gift shops here and there—Preparations for attractive seasonal window displays by many stores along Haverford Avenue—Advertisements in this paper calling attention to the fine stock of some of the borough's business folk—Post office requests to buy now and mail early—Yes, Christmas is not far off—less than a score of shopping days left, as a matter of fact.

Second Issue of School Paper, 'Sun Dial,' Published

The November number of "The Sun Dial," the monthly paper published by the pupils of the Narberth Public School, has been issued.

The beginning of a geography museum in one of the rooms is described in the following story headed "Geography Museum Started by Upper Grades":

"In Mrs. Brenner's room a museum has been started. We have a great many things from the Philadelphia Museum, including many specimens of cloth, tree products, farm products, etc.

"This museum is not only for showing, but to bring the pupils closer to their studies. It will help mostly in geography, but also in other studies.

"We are glad to accept all contributions such as stated above. Give contributions to Mrs. Brenner or the caretakers.

"CARROLL PALMER and DON-ALD VOGTS, 7th."

The staff of "The Sun Dial" is as follows:

Montgomery School Teams Honored at Annual Dinner

The annual football dinner was tendered the varsity team of Montgomery School in the school gymnasium on November 21. Speakers included the Rev. Gibson Bell, headmaster of the school; "Lud" Wray, head coach of the Penn eleven; Captain Dick Gentle, of Penn (a graduate of Montgomery School), and the coach of Montgomery team, Corbett T. Arnold. Morton Gibbons-Neff acted as toastmaster.

Fifteen boys received their varsity "M." and junior letters were awarded to fourteen members of the 130-pound team, fourteen members of the 105-pound team, eighteen members of the 90-pound team, fifteen members of the 80-pound team, and fourteen members of the 70-pound team.

A loving cup, given by Mrs. Gibson Bell, for the junior team making the best record, was awarded to the 105-pound team, which went through the season without a defeat and without having its goal line crossed. It played all the leading schools in the inter-academic league.

The annual football dance followed the dinner.

Television Is Distant

Answering inquiries made recently, concerning television, Walter G. Case, of the Narberth Electric Shop, this week quotes President E. E. Shumaker, of the RCA Victor Company, Inc., as declaring that "television is a laboratory success, but appears to be a long way from practical and general use. Combination receivers for sound and television are logical and inevitable, but it is impossible to say how many months or years may intervene between the present stage of television development and its ultimate availability for home use."

Autocar Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Autocar Company, Ardmore, on November 25 declared a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum on the preferred stock of this company issued and outstanding, payable December 15, 1930, to stockholders of record as at the close of business December 5, 1930. Checks will be mailed.

STEPHEN H. GIMBER

who has been appointed to Annapolis for 1931, after passing his competitive examination. He graduated from Lower Merion High School last June.

Bala Youth Receives Annapolis Appointment

Stephen H. Gimber, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Gimber, Upland Terrace and Maple Avenue, Bala, has received Congressman Watson's appointment for 1931 to the Naval Academy as a result of a competitive examination held in Philadelphia, October 25. Congressman Watson insists upon a competitive examination to determine his selection for Annapolis and West Point appointees.

Steve graduated from Lower Merion High School last June at the age of seventeen and his classmates will be pleased that an ambition to enter Annapolis, as indicated by the class book, has been realized through devotion to his objective. This fall, Steve entered the Swavely School, at Manassas, Virginia, just below Washington, where he was especially prepared for the Watson competitive examination. He will remain at Swavely School in order to get the benefit of that school's preparation until June of next year, at which time he enters the Naval Academy.

Steve's two elder brothers and a sister are all graduates of Lower Merion.

Rinehart, Ridge Chosen L. M. Football Captains

Lachman Rinehart and David Ridge were unanimously elected co-captains of the Lower Merion High School football team for next season at a meeting of the lettermen on November 24.

Rinehart, whose father, Frank V. Rinehart, has been an instructor in mechanical drawing at the high school for many years, lives in Bridgeport, and played centre on this year's eleven.

Ridge, a halfback, whose sensational run of 73 yards in the Radnor game last week was the outstanding individual performance of the game, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Ridge, of 647 Love Lane, English Village, Wynnewood.

Girl Scout Reporters' Club

Philadelphia Girl Scouts—which include the Scouts of the Main Line—are growing news-conscious. Under the enthusiastic leadership of Mr. Johnson, of Johnson and Prince, they are meeting twice a month for lectures, discussions and demonstration in the field of journalism. The course is based upon, but not limited to, the requirements for Scribe and Journalist Merit Badges.

A leisurely tour of the "Ledger" plant was programmed for the second meeting. The different processes in newspaper make-up which had been previously discussed in class became definite realities to the girls as they, in company with a guide and Mr. Johnson, passed from the wire and city editor's rooms, through typesetting department to the presses.

The work, which includes assignments, is already so advanced that it has been necessary to close the class to further membership. Another will be formed, no doubt, later on.

Dr. Hoyt, Rector Emeritus of St. John's Church, Honored at Neighborhood Club

DR. H. A. F. HOYT

Eulogies were paid the Rev. Henry A. F. Hoyt, D. D., 86-year-old rector emeritus of St. John's P. E. Church, Lower Merion, at the November meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, held in the Cynwyd Fire Hall Tuesday November 25. The meeting was in the nature of a testimonial to Dr. Hoyt, who is one of the section's few surviving Grand Army veterans, and who has been a member of the Neighborhood Club since its second meeting twenty-three years ago.

Strawbridge and Clothier's president, Herbert J. Tily, doctor of music, organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church, declared he has known Dr. Hoyt for half a century—"ever since, as a boy soprano, I dozed in the choir while he preached in the pulpit." The choir was in the Episcopal Church at Third and Dauphin, and Dr. Hoyt at that time was connected with the Episcopal Hospital at Lehigh Avenue. I met him again when I was playing the organ at Old St. Paul's, Third and Walnut, while he was trying to put new life into the Reformed Episcopal Church at Twenty-first and Chestnut.

And then in Cynwyd, where for twenty-eight years he and I have enjoyed an uninterrupted friendship, a most pleasant relationship. . . . Here Dr. Hoyt has built to himself and to God a beautiful, impressive testimonial.

"Dr. Hoyt's life reminds me of the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, which describes Christian charity. He is patient and full of kindness."

Gwynne T. Shepperd, who has known him for twenty years, declared: "Dr. Hoyt has been an example for all mankind and for all in this community, where he has created a remarkable spirit of friendliness regardless of religion and nationality. . . . Even the dogs wag their tails when he passes by."

Township Treasurer Peter C. Hess, who has been associated with his rector for twenty-five years as an usher and member of the vestry of St. John's Church, pointed out that Dr. Hoyt is not only a man of peace, but, in time of need, a good soldier. He was wounded severely in the Civil War, and served as chaplain in the Spanish-American War.

W. R. Caley, an elder of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Cynwyd, declared he has known Dr. Hoyt for thirty-five years, since they both were in Fox Chase, and that the clergyman has contributed greatly to "the wonderful home life and spirit of this community."

The Rev. Benjamin N. Bird, rector of the nearby Church of St. Asaph, in Bala, and Dean of the Convocation of Chester, declared Dr. Hoyt has been his spiritual father, ever since, as young newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Bird were invited to dine with Dr. Hoyt at the Dennis while visiting Atlantic City, and the waiter at the conclusion of the meal told them: "Doctor, it is very nice that you have your son and his wife with you tonight." "His relationship to me," Mr. Bird said, "has always been of the kindest and best."

Dr. Albert E. Clattenburg, rector for six years of St. John's Church, said that he accepted the call here with some trepidation, because he was told there would be a rector emeritus ("something I'd never had before") and because he was told it was hoped they would get along well together.

"We did," he said. "Dr. Hoyt has been a gentleman, a Christian of the highest type, and his was the ideal which has been worked out by the people of this community for the parish of St. John's. We are going to have a bronze tablet placed in the church, with the names of Milton Medary, architect, who had the vision to plan this undertaking, and of Dr. Hoyt, who has been the force back of this work."

Dr. Hoyt was called upon by President W. B. Richards to "defend himself against any and all charges," and he traced the early history of the St. John's Men's Club, many of whose 125 members of years ago became members later of the Cynwyd Country Club and then of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club. He declared that he has been a member, and still is, of every club in the community except for the Woman's Club.

Concerning his Civil War experiences, he mentioned that he was at first rejected, because at the age of 17, in 1861, he weighed less than a hundred pounds, and was small and frail. He finally entered the Grand Army of the Republic as a drummer boy; because his left-handed drumming created confusion with his fellow-marchers in the drum corps, he again was rejected. After making life uncomfortable for his neighbors, practicing right-handed drumming on a big drum at his home, he finally entered the service, where he was wounded in action. He still recalls the pleasant year of care given him while hospitalized in Philadelphia; and when he was mustered out of the service, he declined to return to his home town in Massachusetts, and remained in Philadelphia, where he eventually entered the ministry.

"I am a rabid pacifist," Dr. Hoyt declared, "and yet I lock my door when I go to bed; all men are not honest."

THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

Fine-car distinction and quality in the new Chevrolet Six

Again, Chevrolet and General Motors have utilized their combined resources to establish a new and higher standard of value for the American motor car.

The new Chevrolet represents a type of economical transportation that America has long anticipated—a low-priced six styled with such striking talent and good taste, so smartly beautiful and complete in its perfection of detail, so advanced and refined mechanically that you will immediately recognize it as the Great American Value.

This great value is the outcome of four basic Chevrolet advantages: (1) The savings of volume production in nineteen immense, modern plants. (2) The economies which result from great purchasing power. (3) The benefits of continuous research in General Motors laboratories and on the General Motors Proving Ground. And (4) the close association with the Fisher Body Corporation who, this year, have surpassed all their previous achievements in developing bodies of outstanding quality, refinement and value.

These basic advantages have made it possible to build a finer car at lower cost. They have enabled Chevrolet to offer a car with a longer wheelbase—greater roominess and comfort—strikingly smarter style—impressive new luxury—more thoroughly satisfactory performance—greater dependability. And to pass on these savings of efficient manufacturing to the buyer in the form of lower prices!

Postmasters Urge Early Mailing

Give Latest Dates for Mail to Various Parts of the Country.

The annual Christmas bulletin, with "Mail Early" as its key note, has been issued by Main Line postmasters.

The latest dates for mailing to different parts of the country to ensure delivery before Christmas are as follows:

"For California and the Far West, Monday, December 8; for Rocky Mountain States, Tuesday, December 9; for other States of the Middle West, Wednesday, December 10; for Southern States, Thursday, December 11; for Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Thursday, December 11; for New England States, Saturday, December 13; for Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Saturday, December 13; for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Wednesday, December 17; for Philadelphia city (parcel post) Friday, December 19; for Philadelphia (Christmas cards and letters), Saturday, December 20.

"The use of small size cards and envelopes is discouraged by the postal authorities since it retards and disarranges the work in the post offices, often necessitating hand canceling of stamps, etc.

"Special delivery and special handling stamps are for speed and not for safety. Insure all valuable packages.

"Address all parcels plainly and in ink. Place sender's name and address in upper left hand corner. Address parcels on one side only.

"Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed on the address side of parcels. Place a card bearing your name and address inside of your parcel for identification in case the wrapper should be lost.

"Parcels may be marked 'Do not open until Christmas,' etc."

There will be no regular mail delivery on Christmas Day, although the special delivery service will be maintained.

Compliance with the above suggestions, particularly in regard to mailing early, will greatly facilitate the work of the post offices.

All nations are not as peaceful as we are. . . . I still choose to be listed by the National Guard of Pennsylvania as 'subject to call'."

One of the statements he made in an interesting and sometimes amusing talk was this typical one: "My chief pleasure in life is the good will and esteem and affection of the people that I have been with so many years."

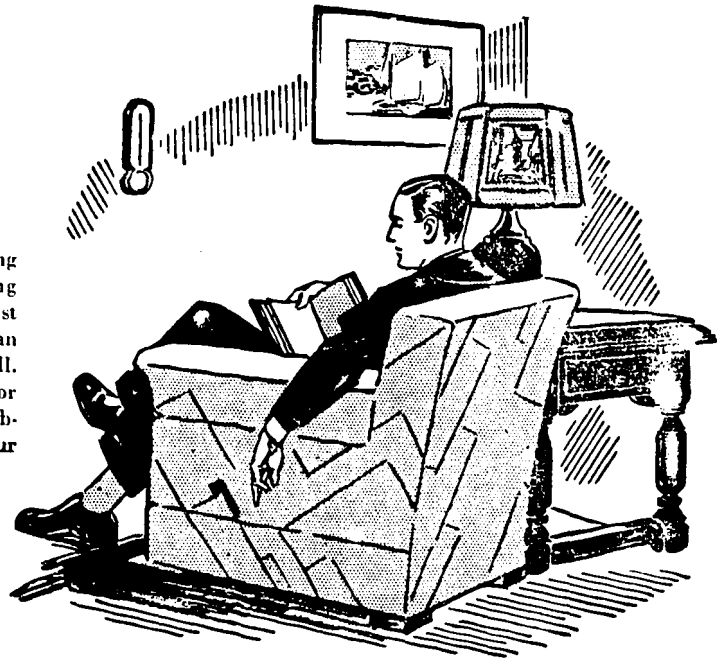

It was pointed out that Dr. Hoyt, although on the retired list, is still active enough "to take his kid brother—some seventy years old—by the hand and go to Oberammergau to see the Passion Play, and take an occasional side trip to Florida and California."

"Time Out"

BY TOMMY MACKLIN

Yes, I'm one of those weak-minded persons who pick an all-something team at the close of the football season.

Of course, we do not expect you to agree with us on our choices. That's the idea.

It's just a game.

And an old Suburban custom.

After reading our all suburban selection, Herby Good and Wyc Justis will have something to write about next week.

This is a dull season, you know, with no teams in action, and we want to give our contemporaries a break.

We think Herby Good chose a very fine team in his Philadelphia Record eleven. Only one or two changes there, and it would satisfy us.

Lower Merion has started the basketball grind which should lead the locals to another fine season.

Captain James Turner of the Maroon five still suffers from a sprained shoulder suffered prior to the Radnor contest.

John Eaton, from Washington Central High, of Washington, D. C., is likely to take a forward berth on the team. He is rangy and a well-seasoned player.

Lachman Reinhart, all-suburban center on most of the all-teams, returned to school in time this week to win the punting trophy which is given to the member of the squad who averages the greatest distance in a punting duel. Reinhart had an operation on his ear which kept him out of the Radnor game.

Over at Haverford High, Coach Cornog is rushing his basketball team along for the opening of the league season. He has some fine boys back such as Horton, Brunhouse, et al., who

Pennypacker Would Captain Annual Hypothetical Selection

ADAM CHOSEN COACH

BY TOMMY MACKLIN

In choosing our annual All-Suburban eleven, we do not apologize for limiting our selections to so few schools. Unquestionably Lower Merion and Abington had the strongest teams in the suburbs, and the reason is evident. They had the manpower, properly trained. That is the reason they get the most positions on the team. In order to pass the positions around as much as possible, many of the scribes have chosen boys who do not rate the first team. In our opinion, Rockwell and Ridge, of Lower Merion, and Givens, of Abington, are superior to the backs on Chester, Ridley Park and Conshohocken teams. We saw those teams in action and cannot help but choose the former boys first. Rockwell is one of the finest backs in scholastic football. He is mentally keen, a very fast runner, a fine passer and a good defensive man. Ridge is worth much more than he is given credit for, as he is not a flashy man at all. He plays at a steady gait all of the time and his scoring ability is unquestioned. He has made several runs of over forty yards for touchdowns this season. Horton would be a wonder behind the above line. Thompson, of Collingdale, is the cream of the suburbs in all-around ability. The line speaks for itself.

Pennypacker would captain this team, with Thompson calling signals from the fullback position. A fine strategist and a deadly fighter, is this Thompson, and with his knack of being able to pick an opponent's greatest weakness, he would be the logical man for the signal caller's post.

We would choose Albert Adam, of Lower Merion, to coach this team. We consider Jules Prevost, of Radnor, as superior to Adam in coaching a team for one game, possibly, but we think that Adam has no equal in the suburbs for a season's schedule. He has proven his worth in games won and lost over a period of eight years with no better material than is available at the other high schools in the suburban area.

will show an improvement over last season.

The Junior High team from Lower Merion will play Edison Junior High, of Harrisburg, this season in a two-game series. The Capital boys will come to Ardmore on the sixteenth of January and will play a game in the Junior High gym, that night. The team, coached by L. B. Fowler, will return the visit on the sixth of February.

PROPOSAL

Bids for the collection of trash and ashes from all houses, apartments, stores, churches and restaurants in the Borough of Narberth for the year of 1931, are hereby requested. The bids will be received by the Secretary of the Borough Council, up to 8 P. M. on Monday, December 8, 1930, at which time a regular meeting of the Borough Council convenes, and the opening of the bids will take place.

Submit bids two ways: First, taking over the present equipment of the Borough of Narberth, and second, furnishing own equipment.

Contracts will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, and Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Collections will be required in accordance with the following schedule: One collection each week from every building during the months of September, October, November, December, January, February, March and April.

Two collections each month from every building during the months of May, June, July and August.

Ashes, trash, bottles and cans may be collected together, but papers must be collected separately.

All collections to be made from the rear of all the houses and empty containers to be returned to the rear of the houses.

Successful bidder will be required to furnish bond.

Need for Contagious Diseases Hospital Stressed by Lower Merion Health Board

Failure of Bryn Mawr Hospital to Provide Such a Unit Cited.

VAUCLAIN DEFENDS IT

The failure of the Bryn Mawr Hospital to provide a unit for contagious diseases and the urgent need for such an isolation hospital on the Main Line were discussed at the meeting of the Lower Merion Board of Health on Monday night.

According to Dr. Bertrand K. Wilbur, president of the Board, it was understood that provision was made in the plans for such a contagious diseases unit at the time funds were solicited for the new building.

Dr. Wilbur declared that a committee appointed by the hospital authorities last June to co-operate with the Boards of Health of Lower Merion, Haverford, Radnor Townships and the Borough of Narberth in furthering the matter had not taken any action.

"The Main Line has felt the need for a contagious diseases hospital for the past ten years and has been talking about it for that same period. It is time that something be done about the matter," Dr. Wilbur said.

In response to this criticism Samuel M. Vauclein, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Bryn Mawr Hospital, asserted that no member of the Board had ever promised anyone that a contagious diseases unit would be built at the hospital. "The institution is operating at a deficit," Mr. Vauclein said, "and although it is endowed, it could not now undertake the additional heavy expense of building a contagious unit." He added that the hospital would be willing and glad to operate such a unit if the community would build it.

Hospital authorities, in answer to the charge, pointed out that there is at the present time a building at the hospital with eight beds used to take care of contagious diseases. As Mr. Vauclein pointed out, however, cases other than those which develop at the hospital are seldom admitted.

The following statement was made by Dr. Robert G. Gamble, chief of staff of the hospital, upon the matter:

"It was the intention of the trustees of the hospital to provide a department for contagious diseases, but due to lack of funds this was found impractical, when the hospital was built.

"The trustees had appointed a committee, of which I am chairman, to confer with the several Boards of Health in our community to discuss the matter of contagious diseases. Several efforts were made to get in communication with some of the Boards of Health last fall, but they were absent on their vacations, hence the meeting was postponed.

"The hospital has provided a small contagious department, which has been functioning since last winter. We have on several occasions admitted contagious diseases to this department from the surrounding territory, and have so far served 165 patient days."

Earl Carroll, of bathtub party notoriety, occupied the pulpit of a Boston church recently when his theme was "Bare Legs in the Theatre." We presume not one snore was heard throughout the discourse.

Township Fixes Standards Governing Sale of Cream

An ordinance fixing the standards governing the sale of cream in Lower Merion Township was approved by the township's Board of Health on Monday night and will be submitted to the Board of Commissioners at the next meeting of that body on December 17.

Dr. George W. Grim, milk control officer of the township, pointed out the lack of standards in the sale of cream and recommended that the Board take action in the matter.

According to the ordinance approved by the Board, dairymen will be required to market their product in the following grades: light, containing a minimum of 18 per cent. butter fat; medium, 27 per cent.; heavy, 36 per cent., and extra heavy, 45 per cent.

New York City is the only locality known to Dr. Grim which has fixed standards for butter fat in cream at the present time.

News Notes From Lower Merion High

The swimming season is here for the Lower Merion squad, and the first meet of the year will be held this afternoon at West Chester High School. Jim Donnelly, captain of the local tank men, will be accompanied by a good squad of swimmers.

The Maroon football team will be honored this evening at a dinner by the Sigma Kappa Fraternity, a high school fraternity which numbers many of the local boys in its chapter. The dinner will be given them at Mari's near the 69th Street section of Philadelphia, and a closed dance will be held afterward.

Jim Turner, football and basketball star, has been elected president of the Student Council at Lower Merion. William Smith, another popular athlete, was elected vice president of the same organization.

The faculty of the school is having prepared a large picture of former Principal C. B. Pennypacker, to hang in the corridor at the high school. The model of the C. B. Pennypacker Memorial Tablet has been placed in the main corridor, and the tablet itself will be ready in a short time.

The Junior Class had a unique "Get Better Acquainted" idea last week and each member of the class wore a badge with his or her name printed thereon. In that way each member of the class learned new names and new faces within the Junior group. Connie Wickham, president of the class, was president of the student body of the Junior High School two years ago. He is a substitute end on the football team.

Evangelistic Service

Dr. J. Gresham Machen, professor of New Testament theology in Westminster Theological Seminary, will be the speaker at an evangelistic service to be held at the Seville Theatre at 4 P. M. Sunday. Dr. Machen's topic will be "The Heart of Christianity and the Cross of Christ." Dr. Rollin Maitland, prominent Philadelphia organist, and Miss Shank Weiler, soloist, will participate in the program. A copy of Lerolle's picture, "The Arrival of the Shepherd," will be presented to everyone present. There is no admission charge and all are welcome.

America's sweet tooth last year required $119,434,405 worth of chocolate. Things might be worse.

Welfare Pledges to Date Exceed Last Year's Total

The year of 1930 will be put down in history as one to be remembered, from the standpoint of unemployment and hardships, for many of the population of our large cities and suburbs. Facing this fact the Welfare Federation, during its recent drive, on the Main Line has been able to secure more money to date than was secured during last year's entire campaign. There have been 5932 individuals who have contributed $391,093.60, which is 84 per cent. of the quota for this year.

W. Logan MacCoy, chairman for the Main Line, is most encouraged with many things that have occurred during the drive; the value of the cards in the Special Committee last year compared with this year shows an increase of $27,487.44 or about 10 per cent.

The schools have co-operated in a most generous way; Friends' Central School, under the leadership of Ethel Wilson, increased their contributions this year 50 per cent.; Shipley School, under the leadership of Peggy MacCoy, has increased their contribution three times that of last year; Episcopal Academy came in with a generous contribution; Haverford College as usual co-operated most generously. A very substantial contribution was received from the Philadelphia Electric Company in Ardmore, and the United Cigar Company on Lancaster Pike gave a percentage of money secured in two days' sales to the Federation. Two employees of an apartment house secured contributions from all the employees working in that apartment.

With so much enthusiasm from every source, it is felt sure that prior to December 15 the quota for the Main Line will be reached.

If, due to some over-sight, you have not been solicited during the campaign, the office for the Welfare Federation at 25 E. Athens Avenue, Ardmore, is open daily until five o'clock, and contributions may be made there at any time.

Police Overlords Bow to Juniors in Golf Match

A. D. Warnock, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee of the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners; Superintendent of Police Charles P. Smith, Lieutenant Ignatius Mullin and Sergeant Walter T. Brown were the members of a foursome that teed off on Thanksgiving Day at the Valley Forge Golf Club.

Drawing for partners took place at the Merion Cricket Club, where the group had lunch. Mr. Warnock and the Superintendent lost out by a close margin to Lieutenant Mullin and Sergeant Brown, 194 to 200. Lieutenant Mullin was low man with 96, Sergeant Brown, 98; Mr. Warnock, 99, and Superintendent Smith, 101.

Coal Fund Established by Main Line Weeklies

"Destitute or unfortunate families are forced to use the first available money for food and shelter. Because of this their coal bins are often empty and their homes without heat. Consequently, they are subjected to real discomfort and the dangers of ill health.

"Establishment of a coal fund with speedy relief for those unable to provide winter fuel is needed to round out the program of relief measures that have been planned in the township. Our welfare organizations are doing wonderful work. If the fortunate will continue to aid the unfortunate I see no reason why anybody should suffer on the Main Line this winter.

Member newspapers of the council will make weekly reports on the totals in the coal fund and the amounts expended for this purpose. Names of the donors or the recipients of these contributions will not be made public except by special request. All coal fund checks will be dispersed by Mr. Hess, treasurer of the fund.

Xmas Seal Proceeds Aid Tuberculosis Fight

Buy Christmas Seals and fight tuberculosis! Such is the appeal made by the Lower Merion and Narberth Borough Committee for the sale of Christmas Seals, Mrs. Jas. E. Caldwell, is chairman of this committee. This annual campaign is conducted under the auspices of the Montgomery County Tuberculosis and Public Health Society. The committee has mailed out the stamps, 100 to a sheet and they sell for $1.00 a sheet.

The Christmas Seals not only show that the donor has made his contribution to the county campaign in behalf of public health, but the seals themselves are a neat stamp which may be affixed to any mail matter, or Christmas gifts. The committee points out that the Christmas seals should be purchased in Lower Merion Township and Narberth Borough rather than out of town for the one big reason that 55 per cent. of the net proceeds remain in that district for the welfare work and local tuberculosis work.

The Rev. Robert J. Gottschall, of Norristown, is the county chairman of the Seal Sale in Montgomery County, which provides funds for tuberculosis clinics for adults and children, care of tuberculosis patients in their homes; community health work, child welfare centers, health education work in rural schools and dental clinics.
